

Hello, I am

Braden Murray

Creative Director

As a creative team leader, strong in project management and team dynamics, I consistently deliver on time and on brief. I'm also well versed in client management with proven experience in cultivating commercial relationships with numerous key accounts.

Handling the insight-driven creative process from start to finish, I can make your life easier and the agency look good. My obsession with cultural trends combined with a discerning eye, leads to fresher, more effective work.

My experience with a range of brands from Hollywood studios to small businesses, has given me a firm grasp of the industry on an international and local level.
